THE FRENCH EXPERTISE FOR YOUR FUTURE OFFICERS

The French expertise for your Air Force academic and military training

Become a soldier, a military leader and an aeronautical expert based on the French Air Force Academy model.

Salon de Provence Academic and Aeronautical International Training Centre

Created in 2014, DCI's Academic and Aeronautical International Training Centre (CIF-AA) welcomes your cadets for a training lasting up to 5 years.

A first 2-year period is dedicated to initial military training, French or English learning and a scientific preparation. It is followed by the officer training within the French Air Force Academy.

A degree-awarding training within the French Air Force Academy

The CIF-AA offers your cadets full high-level degree-awarding training courses similar to the French cadets':

- Cadets attending the French track (French Air Force Academy bachelor course, CLEA) are embedded within French brigades and awarded a Bachelor in Aeronautical and Spatial Systems delivered by Aix-Marseille University
- Cadets attending the English track (French Air Force Academy international course, CIEA) are partially embedded within an international brigade. They attend military and sport courses jointly with their French counterparts and are also awarded a Bachelor in Aeronautics from Aix-Marseille University
